A ROUND OF TALK.

A Love Poem.

Sweetheart of the Long Ago,
Time plays many a trick, I trow,
I am sitting in my room
Writing verse—ah—to whom?
Thinking, sweetheart, still of thee
And the land of Was-to-be;
Thinking verse to and of
Thee, my first and only love;
Talking to my missing self;
Padding poetry for self.
If the then were but the Now!
I am here and where art thou?
Art thou far away from me
Over mountain, over sea?
Dost remember how we played
In the year tree's pleasant shade?
Dost recall the perfect bliss
Of our stolen prismatic kiss,
And remember how we said
We would run away and wed?
Need I put in public print
That at which I only hint?
Sweetheart, dost remember how
Deep we loved—where art thou now?
Long—and still I care
More and more for thee. Ah, where,
Where—if art all-art thou?
Answer, sweetheart, answer now!
Comes a voice: "Why I'm out here
In the kitchen, cooking dear."
Time plays many a trick, I trow
Sweetheart of the long ago.
—Frank P. Adams in Woman's Home Companion for May.

ANOTHER APPEAL.—Mr. Archibald Stuart, President of the Kentucky and Ohio Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, has made another appeal to the burley tobacco growers to listen to another scheme which he has to suggest for their salvation. In brief, he suggests the cutting of the crop of 1906, one-third, or plant one-third less acreage than was at first contemplated. Just how this is to be done, Mr. Stuart in a long address fails to state. He says, among other things:

"It is not too late: it is just the right time to act. Had you agreed upon a move of this kind in January or February, outsiders who did not raise tobacco would have seen plant beds and planted tobacco in a way that would have made success impossible, resulting in a big crop and defying the object. Now they can not do it. The regular growers control the plant beds and it is too late for outsiders to checkmate you." In closing, Mr. Stuart makes this appeal: "The regular burley grower has the advantage now. Schemes cannot be concocted to knock you out. You are on safe ground: you are master of the situation. What you say on this subject now goes—the trust cannot stop you. Will you grasp the opportunity and rise up with enthusiasm and say, 'yes, we will try it? Instruct me by letter to call a grand mass meeting at Lexington and decide if I get the sufficient encouragement I will act at once.' We don't imagine that the tobacco growers will be in any great rush to act on any more suggestions coming from the Growers' Association of which Mr. Stuart is now president. About a year ago the tobacco men acted on one of these suggestions and it cost them about $25,000. This money was paid in on stock subscriptions into the Growers' Association, and although the tobacco men have never received a dollar of benefit from it they were coolly informed by the managers of the Association that the money would not be returned, but would be kept to carry on the business of the organization. We believe the time is coming when the tobacco growers of Kentucky will organize, but it will be on a different and safer basis from that represented by the Burley Association.

BAD PRACTICE.—We have mentioned before in this column the bad practice which is becoming almost universal among our honest farmers who own land bordering on the public road, of fencing in a part of the property of the county. We have yet to see a case, and we have noticed many, of a man who replaces his old fence with a new one who fails to add more land to his farm at the expense of the county. In most cases it is just a very little bit, only two or three feet, but it is just that much and the practice is not right. We do not imagine for one moment that one of these farmers who so freely appropriates a part of the county road would think for a moment of moving a dividing line fence so as to take in a few feet of his neighbor's land. If he did there would certainly be an uncommon row stirred up. Yet it is the same thing to impose on the county, only the county does not raise any row about it. The farmers and land owners probably do not intend to take in property not their own, but the trouble seems to be this: In building a new fence along the road it is more convenient in building this fence, which is generally of wire, to put up the new line before tearing away the old, and the land owner also finds it more convenient to place the new one outside of the old, thus encroaching a little on the turnpike. Fences do not last forever, and if every new fence is built out side of the old one and never a one built on the inside, it is only a question of time when all the public roads will be enclosed in the farms adjoining. It would seem pretty hard for the county authorities to force any of these farmers to move their new fences back, but it seems to us some action should be taken at once to prevent any more such forcing offences.

SHOULD BE SUPPRESSED.—A negro man and a negro woman were each given a heavy fine in the Springfield Police Court for holding a "cussing match" on the streets of Springfield. This is all right. Such offenders should be punished to the fullest extent of the law, but there is another class of "cussers" who need suppressing quite as badly. We refer to the "gentle" swearer—the fellow who embellishes his most ordinary conversation with "cuss" words, and to whom profanity seems a necessary adjunct to his speech. With some men, ordinarily good citizens, swearing has become such a habit that they use it carelessly and regardless of the occasion, and it is now no uncommon thing for ladies when passing along the streets to have their ears assailed by oaths uttered by some man engaged in a discussion with a crowd of his fellows. There is no practice more senseless, and yet nothing of its wickedness as swearing. The English language is full of words certainly forcible enough to express one's thoughts and feelings, without the necessity of profaning the name of the Lord. Indeed, we believe that the ignorant thoughtless negro, who gets mad and relieves his anger in an old-fashioned cussing match is more to be excused than the fellow who uses profanity as a kind of pastime.

Quake Caused Reelfoot Lake.

Hickman, Ky.—The New Madrid earthquake, which sunk New Madrid, Mo., on Dec. 17, 1811, occurred only twenty-five miles below Hickman, and the earthquake which sank Reelfoot Lake occurred only about ten miles away. The Madrid earthquake was felt several hundred miles, and vibrations occurred at intervals for more than a month. It happened that Fulton's steamship, the Orleans, the first boat launched on the Ohio, was on its way from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, and was not far from New Madrid when the first shock occurred. It was under the command of Captain Nicholas J. Roosevelt, the grand uncle of President Roosevelt. Those on the boat were in great peril. The writers of the river for several hours were turned upstream and the banks caved in for miles, the boat often being in great distress. Over an extent of 200 miles from the mouth of the Ohio river southward the ground rose and sank in great undulations. The surface opened in fissures that trended northwest and southeast and were sometimes more than half a mile long, from which mud and water were thrown as high as the tops of the trees. About one year after the New Madrid disaster an earthquake sank a strip of land thirty miles long and seven miles wide in the southern part of Hickman and Fulton counties, lying about ten miles below Hickman, Ky., and that is now known as Reelfoot Lake. This lake is now widely known and every winter hunters visit all over the United States to see it, being such a quantity of ducks and geese. The tops of trees and many stumps still exist, showing the depth it sank. In Arkansas, southwest of New Madrid, a large wooded territory sank for several miles, and has since been known as "The Sunk-land Lands," creating a lake, the waters of which find an outlet southward through the St. Francis river into the Mississippi. The tops of the trees are plainly visible fifteen or twenty feet below the surface.

Three Stars.

A number of Kentucky Congressmen were talking in the lobby of the Ritz Hotel at Washington about high salaries paid from the Bluegrass State. "I presume," said Representative George G. Gilbert, "that not one person in 100 could guess who the highest salaried Kentuckian is." John M. Harlan and Dan McGinn each get $10,000 a year, and I presume they are the Kentuckians who draw the highest salaries paid from our State. Harlan is the pastor of the Supreme Court and McGinn is a star in the baseball firmament." McGinn played first base for Harrodsburg when Morgan Chalmers, now clerk of the Court of Appeals at $8,000, pitched for Harrodsburg. Harrodsburg Herald.

A Celebrated Case.

The celebrated will contest case of R. B. Lancaster's executor and S. P. Lancaster's executor and others has been re-docketed in the Circuit Court and will stand for trial at this term. This case was tried in the Circuit Court and was decided in favor of the will, but was reversed by the Court of Appeals and remanded for a new trial. The case will probably be tried about a week of the term. The property involved is worth about $90,000. The attorneys for R. B. Lancaster's executor are E. J. McDermott, Louisville; John S. Kelly, Geo. S. and John A. Fulton, and E. E. McKay, of Bardonia; and for S. P. Lancaster's executor are W. H. Halstead, Bardonia; Frank Straus, Louisville; John W. Lewis, Springfield, and Eli H. Brown, Frankfort.—Standard.

3,500,000 POUNDS.

Represents the Amount of Tobacco Handled by The American Tobacco Co. At this Place.

The American Tobacco Co. has closed another season of buying and handling the Burley tobacco crop at its warehouse at this place, and the figures for this season's work show that Washington county's tobacco crop shows a big increase each year. It is estimated that all of the tobacco crop of Washington county has been sold, except about 100,000 pounds which still remains in the farmers' hands. Reliable figures place the total number of pounds of tobacco grown in this county at 5,000,000 pounds. The American Tobacco Co. through its warehouse here has bought and will handle and ship 3,500,000. The balance, 1,500,000, has been either shipped direct to the growers to the Louisville market or has been bought and reshipped by some of the smaller dealers.

The amount of tobacco handled by the A. T. Co. last year at this place was about 2,800,000 pounds, so this year shows an increase of 800,000 pounds. It is also said that there was a large increase in the amount shipped to the Louisville breaks, so the total crop grown in Washington county shows a substantial increase from last year to this. The number of crops bought by the company this year is 1,012, as against 1,025 last year.

The average price paid to the farmers for the tobacco delivered at the warehouse in Springfield was about 8 cents per pound. Mr. H. M. Moss, the buyer for the A. T. Co., says he bought 40 crops at 10 cents and 100 crops at 9 cents, and that the price paid this year will be higher, considering the quality, than last year. There were a few crops of first class tobacco, but the large bulk of it was of inferior quality. Taking 8 cents as a fair average for the tobacco grown by the farmers of the county and 5,000,000 pounds as the crop we have $40,000,000 as the value of the 1905 tobacco crop of Washington county.

Terror of Earthquakes.

That there is nothing within the range of human knowledge which possesses greater power to compel sheer terror; more psychological than physical perhaps, and abjectly helpless fear in the mind of man than a violent volcanic eruption is undeniable. But either the exigencies of life or some peculiarly fatuous mental characteristic brings back to the very shadow of the great destructive agency those who fled in panic from their doctored habitation. There is no better example of this curious, careless

New Route.

The engineers engaged in locating the interurban route between Lexington and Winchester practically have completed their report. The survey approves a new route, which extends along the Richmond pike for about two miles from Lexington, when it will run in a northeasterly direction to the Todd's Mill turn-off, striking the latter near Walnut Hills, and thence by the Todd's Mill pike by the nearest route to Winchester. The company claims that all rights of way have been secured and the road will be built this summer. Some of the farmers on the Todd road placed such heavy damages on the use of their land that the company refused to pay and the change was decided on.—Lexington Observer.

Marion Circuit Court.

During the past week the following has been done by the court:

Jim Huffaker, the boy who killed the old man at the poor farm, was convicted of manslaughter and given ten years in the penitentiary.

Charlie Hood was given two years in the penitentiary for stealing Walter Burress' watch. His partner, Joe Holtsch, was dismissed.

George Beaven, colored, was convicted of chicken stealing and sent to the penitentiary for one year.

Rowan Sapp was convicted of malicious casting and fined $80 and cost.

The grand jury reported the following indictments: Willful trespass 4; shooting on highway 3; carrying concealed deadly weapon 3; injuring property of another 2; pointing a gun at another 2; nuisance 2, and one each for assault and battery, liquor without license, chicken stealing, gaming, breach of the peace, and extortion.—Falcon.

A Change of Venue.

The city of Bardonia has given notice to the defendant in the case of same against Nelson county that it will apply for a change of venue at the next term of court. This is the suit brought several years ago to recover about $200 for expenses in maintaining a quarantine for a small-pox patient. The case has been tried three times and reversed twice by the Court of Appeals. For plaintiff, R. C. Cherry, Geo. S. and John A. Fulton; for the defendant, Nat. W. Halstead and Frank E. Daugherty.—Standard.

The Grundy Orphanage.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Grundy Presbyterian Orphanage was held at the orphanage near here on Thursday last for the purpose of considering some important matters. A change was made in the directorate by the election of Judge J. H. Thurman to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Judge John Stites. Judge Stites resigned on account of being unable to give the affairs of the orphanage his attention. Three members of the board are now residents of Springfield. The board stands as follows: J. S. Lyon, Louisville, chairman; Dr. A. S. Moffett, of Lebanon; John W. Lewis, I. I. Thompson, and W. A. Waters, of Springfield; Mr. Robert Thompson, the superintendent, has made some big improvements on the premises. The house and out-buildings have been newly painted and the yard and lawn beautified. Most of the land has been cleared of thickets and preparations are being made to plant a big crop of tobacco this year. Arrangements have been made to bring from the orphanage at Anchorage a number of boys and place them at the Grundy orphanage, and it is thought that the boys can be made useful on the farm.

Railroad Rumor.

Rumors and reports of new railroads are always interesting, especially when our own town is concerned. The Boyle County Herald is responsible for the latest one which we give for what it is worth. It says: "A gentleman who is well posted in railroad matters tells the Herald that there is a fine opportunity to get the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to come in to Danville from Springfield on account of that route being 15 miles closer to Knoxville from Louisville than the present Knoxvilleville division. The gentleman also said that he feels confident that a great deal of assistance can be gotten from Perryville, where a railroad is much needed and greatly desired. He thinks that the matter of getting a national park at Perryville would be materially simplified should a railroad pass through that section. The enterprising people of Danville should investigate the proposition and confer with the railroad people. The coming to Danville of a competing railroad would mean great things for the community."

Last Toll Gate.

The Jessamine County Fiscal Court has agreed to purchase Brooklyn bridge which spans the Kentucky river on the Lexington and Harrodsburg pike for $50,000. Mercer county was represented by Col. Jack Chinn, Dr. Penny-packer and Messrs Forsythe & Hargis. All that is needed for the purchase to go into effect is its ratification by the Mercer Fiscal Court. There is no doubt that the county will agree to the purchase. The bridge was constructed in 1871 at a cost of $71,000. When it passed into the control of the counties the last toll gate in this section of the State will be removed.—State Journal.

Mrs. R. A. McInnis, Springfield, Ky., has for sale, 200, 300, 400, 500, 600, 700, 800, 900, 1,000. For sale by Red Frog Store.

No announcement was made public, but it was understood that of the eighteen who took the examination, Mr. Mansfield stood first, and Mr. Nichols third. Three of these young men will very likely open practice in this city in the near future.

Council Meets.

The regular meeting of the City Council was held on last Friday evening. About the only thing of importance done was to receive the resignation of the City Clerk and the election of a successor. Mr. P. G. McElroy, resigned the position on account of being unable to spare the time from his other work to attend to the duties of the office. Mr. C. M. McElroy was unanimously elected to the position. Reports of committees were heard and other routine business was transacted. The sidewalk question was discussed and it is probable that steps will at once be taken to enforce ordinances for the construction of sidewalks.

A Crawfish Story.

Ex-magistrate T. B. Hicks, of Bradfordsville, touches for the following story: He was on his way to Lebanon Monday and was passing the farm of Messrs Joe and James Ayritt, when a black bird alighted in a swampy place near the pike for the evident purpose of feasting on a crawfish. True to its instinct of self preservation, the crawfish, after the bird had picked it up in its bill, seized the latter by the throat with one of its claws and held on until the bird choked to death. Mr. Hicks says he could hardly realize what he saw and left his wagon to take the bird up in his hands. The crawfish he found still clinging to the bird's throat, and he says it took considerable effort on his part to release the bird from the crawfish's deathly grip. "People may be inclined to disbelieve this story," added Mr. Hicks. "but it is as true as gospel."—Lebanon Enterprise.
